Hello Sevastopol families, my name is Jessica Killenberg and I am your Sevastopol School District Parent Liaison. I am happy and excited to have this opportunity to be able to assist families with getting the information and support they need to help their children be academically and socially successful in school. I look forward to working alongside you so that you may become a partner in the educational process.

I have been working as a special education aide at Sevastopol for six years and have two children who attend here. My passion for helping students was sparked by my daughter's autism diagnosis in 2011. After hearing the news, I immediately wanted to learn everything I could in order to ensure that she had the best education and school experience that she could have. In addition to the wealth of information I have gained as an aide here at Sevastopol, I have also had many opportunities for professional growth by attending different conferences and trainings. I hope that my knowledge and personal experiences will be an asset to families who are trying to navigate this sometimes confusing process.

Some of the things that I can help parents with include:

- Helping with parent-school communication
- Assist with community agency referrals.
- Encouraging parent involvement in school.
- Promoting higher student achievement through positive relationships between parents and school personnel.
- Help arrange meetings between you and your child(ren)'s teachers or other staff to discuss your concerns, share information and understand your point of view.
- Accompany you to these meetings to help clarify issues that may arise. If you need an interpreter, I can arrange one for you to communicate with your child(ren)'s teachers.

If you, as a parent or guardian have concerns about your child's academic performance, are unclear of your role in the educational process, or require assistance with community resources, please contact me by email at sevparentliaison@gmail.com or by leaving a message with Sue Anschutz in Pupil Services at 920-743-6282 ext.1132.
